Framing Vulnerability and Adaptive Capacity Assessment

The paper provides definitions and explanations of key concepts relating to adaptation. It introduces some of the commonly used methodologies for assessing vulnerability, adaptive capacity and risk. The appendices to the paper provide summaries of recent Australian vulnerability and impact assessments to illustrate some of these different approaches and the resulting outputs.

Adapting Cities to Climate Change - Local Development

This book identifies risk, vulnerability and adaptation to climate change in urban centers. It examines the implications of climate change for cities in low-and middle-income countries of Africa, Asia and Latin America. The book looks at what cities can do to be part of the climate change solution and proposes options for adaptation.

Wuppertal Options for Post-2012 Climate Regime

This draft report presents some proposals for post-2012 building blocks, including: shared vision, Annex I targets, non-Annex I NAMAs (nationally appropriate mitigation actions), adaptation, financing, technology, and REDD (reducing emissions from deforestation and degradation).

Economics of Climate Change in Southeast Asia

The paper examines climate change impacts, vulnerabilities, costs, opportunities and policy options for Southeast Asia, with a particular focus on Indonesia, Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, and Vietnam. It urges the region to play its part in a global solution to climate change by introducing sustainable development policies that incorporate adaptation and mitigation activities.

Climate Change Guide for Individuals and Communities

This guide presents information for individuals and communities to understand Earth's climate, impacts of climate change, and approaches for adapting and mitigating change. It informs about the essential principles of climate system. The guide promotes climate science literacy by providing some basic educational framework of climate concepts.

Adaptation Information Sharing Forum - Canberra, Australia

This forum will take place in Canberra, Australia on 22 September 2009. It will highlight and discuss various opportunities that could help address the problem of climate change, with a particular focus on adaptation options. Proposals (15-minute presentations) may be submitted by 30 June 2009. For more information, please go to the link below.
