1. Australia, Japan Act against Groups with N Korea Links, Brendan Nicholson and Deborah Cameron, Age, 2006-09-20 Australia and Japan have launched financial sanctions against banks and other companies believed to have links to North Korea's nuclear program. In a special Government Gazette issue, the Reserve Bank named 11 North Korean companies and a Swiss company.

3. Downer Tips Iran Action, Tony Walker, AFR*, 2006-09-21 Foreign Minister Alexander Downer has foreshadowed the possibility of Australia's applying sanctions against Iran outside a UN framework if the Security Council fails to agree on punitive measures against Tehran. The US has floated the possibility of sanctions against Iran if differences in the Security Council preclude a consensus. Mr Downer confirmed that Washington had asked Australia to co-operate.   4. Howard Deplores Takeover but Military Ties Remain, Craig Skehan, SMH, 2006-09-21 The Australian Government has condemned the Thai coup but not suspended close military ties or called for Thaksin Shinawatra to continue to be recognised as the country's prime minister. Eight Australian defence personnel in Thailand as part of a military co-operation program are to remain in the country.

6. Troop Withdrawal a Mistake, Downer, AAP, SMH, 2006-09-21 Foreign Minister Alexander Downer says it would be a catastrophe for the war against terrorism if Australia and her allies were to withdraw from Iraq and Afghanistan. Speaking in New York to a gathering of US institutional investors, Mr Downer acknowledged that the missions in Afghanistan and Iraq were controversial.

12. The Killer Catching a Ride with HIV, Bill Bowtell, SMH, 2006-09-21 The emergence of extreme drug-resistant strains of tuberculosis in Africa, Eastern Europe, Korea and the US opens an ominous chapter in the evolution of the HIV pandemic. The link between the two also poses a serious threat in our neighbourhood. PNG is in the clutches of an HIV epidemic. In the Solomon Islands, HIV infection will take hold unless radical and effective preventive action is taken.

Austral Policy Forum 06-32A: Whither the Japan-Australia Security Relationship? - Desmond Ball

Desmond Ball of the Australian National University reports that

"the security relationship between Australia and Japan has now grown to the extent that, if the range of cooperative activities could be summated, Japan would be in the top five of Australia's security partners".

Ball suggests that

"given the increasing likelihood of their common involvement in US-led coalitions, as well as their mutual interest in BMD developments, it becomes increasingly likely that ADF and JSDF elements will serve together in operational situations, including not only combat support activities but also actual combat."

Ball concludes by noting

"there is an issue as to whether the complexion of the Australia-Japan relationship overall is in danger of becoming too militarised and, indeed, too securitized."
