The screenshot shows the Nautilus Institute website homepage for the year 2012. The header includes the Nautilus Institute logo and the tagline "FOR SECURITY AND SUSTAINABILITY". Below the header, there is a navigation menu with links for "GLOBAL PROBLEM SCOPING", "PROJECTS", "PUBLICATIONS", "MAILING LISTS", "ABOUT", "PARTNERS", and "CONTACT". The main content area features three featured articles:

- NAPSNet 29 March 2012: A list of reports including "DETERRENCE: Nuclear Security at the Seoul Summit", "EPRI: N-Korea moves rocket to launch pad", "CLIMATE CHANGE ADAPTATION: Climate variability and change in the Himalayas: Community perceptions and responses", "ENERGY SECURITY: Local energy planning in practice: A review of recent experiences", and "GOVERNANCE AND CIVIL SOCIETY: Anti-nuclear activists see Summit grows from nuclear security".
- Nuclear Security at the Seoul Summit: A report by Sharon Squassone, Director and Senior Fellow at the Proliferation Prevention Program of the Center for Strategic and International Studies. The text discusses the Fukushima nuclear accident and the challenges it poses for nuclear security.
- Nuclear Safety and Security After 3-11: A report by Peter Hayes, Executive Director of the Nautilus Institute for Security and Sustainability. The text discusses the earthquake and tsunami of March 11, 2011, and the challenges it poses for nuclear safety and security.

On the right side of the page, there is a sidebar with a search bar and several sections:

- LISTS/PUBLICATIONS: A list of publications including "Nautilus Peace and Security Network (NAPSNet)", "Climate Change Adaptation Network (CCANet)", "Nuclear Proliferation Briefing Book", "EPRI: Energy Book", and "Australia Peace Movement Briefing Book".
- INITIATIVES: A list of initiatives including "Nuclear Disarmament", "Climate Change and Strengthening Australia-Indonesia Security", "Civil Society in East Asia", "Korea Japan Nuclear Whistleblower Zone", and "Nuclear Government in East Asia".
- Partner Link: A section for partner links.
