1. ROK on Six Party Talks

Chosun Ilbo ("SIX-PARTY TALKS COULD RESUME IN LATE MARCH ", 2006-02-21) reported that a high-ranking ROK government official says countries in six-party talks on the DPRK nuclear program are looking at the end of March or beginning of April to resume the stalled negotiations. "There have been various contacts between the U.S., North Korea and China" which established that the talks can resume as soon as a solution to Washington's financial sanctions that have stalled progress arise, the official said. "But whether the talks are really held at that time will depend on the progress made between North Korea and the U.S.," he added. Pyongyang is boycotting the talks over sanctions Washington has slapped on a bank it says was the DPRK's main money-laundering channel.

2. Inter-Korean Military Meeting

Chosun Ilbo ("SOUTH, NORTH KOREAN GENERALS TO MEET AT LAST ", 2006-02-21) reported that the DPRK and the ROK have at last agreed to organize talks between top brass of their militaries next week. The generals will meet for two days on the DPRK side of the armistice line in the Panmunjeon truce village. The meeting will come a year and nine months after the second round of talks between generals from the two sides in Seoraksan in June 2004. The agenda will be packed, topped by a military agreement on reopening the Gyeongui and East Sea railway lines and roads between the DPRK and the ROK, as well as establishing a joint fishing area to help prevent inadvertent skirmishes caused by ships straying across the Northern Limit Line. They will also discuss plans for a meeting between the defense ministers of the two sides and other measures to reduce military tensions and build trust. Former president Kim Dae-jung plans to use the inter-Korean railway when he visits the DPRK in June, so the talks will help ensure his safe passage.

3. Inter-Korean Red Cross Talks

Chosun Ilbo ("NORTH-SOUTH RED CROSS TALKS UNDERWAY ", 2006-02-21) reported that at the DPRK's Kumgang Mountain on Tuesday, at the seventh round of Red Cross meetings, the DPRK side is known to have repeated their previously stated claim that, "There are no POWs or abductees (from the South) living in North Korea". An official from the ROK said there is a wide rift between the two sides on the issue.

4. Inter-Korean Youth Meeting

Chosun Ilbo ("S. KOREAN YOUTH DELEGATES VISIT N. KOREA ", 2006-02-21) reported that a 100-member ROK delegation is visiting the DPRK under an agreement to promote cross-border exchanges made in June 2000. Consisting of university students and other young supporters of the country's political parties, the delegates, who arrived Monday, will take part in commemorative events and hold seminars on peaceful reunification. The delegation will propose forming a joint cheering squad for the football World Cup in Germany. For this, they will propose using the trans-Korean railway, the Gyeongui Line, to travel to Germany via the PRC and Russia.

5. ROK Youths Surveyed on DPRK

Korea Times ("48% OF YOUTH WOULD SUPPORT N. KOREA IN CASE OF US ATTACK", 2006-0-21) reported that in a survey of 1,000 youngsters aged between 18 and 23, conducted by The Korea Times and its sister paper the Hankook Ilbo on Feb. 16-19, nearly 48 percent of respondents said that if the US attacked nuclear facilities in the DPRK, Seoul should act on Pyongyang's behalf and demand Washington stop the attack. But 40.7 percent of them said Seoul should keep a neutral stance in the event of such attacks, while 11.6 percent said the ROK needs to act in concert with the US. A political expert in Seoul said that the poll results should not be interpreted as meaning ROK youths are anti-US. ``To me, the survey does not hint at our youngster's hatred for the United States," Kim Soo-jin, politics professor of Ewha Womans University in Seoul, said in a telephone interview. ``I interpret it as their opposition to any attempt to solve the nuclear crisis by armed force."

6. Japan on DPRK Sanctions

Kyodo News ("JAPAN TO TIGHTEN CONTROL ON N. KOREA, NO ECONOMIC SANCTIONS FOR NOW ", 2006-02-21) reported that Japan plans to apply regulations tightly to issues related to the DPRK to put pressure on Pyongyang after bilateral talks made little headway on the abduction and other bilateral issues -- without imposing economic sanctions for the time being, government sources said Monday. Chief Cabinet Secretary Shinzo Abe told a press conference Monday, without elaborating, "Pressure is necessary to resolve the issues. We would like to study what kind of pressure should be used."

7. Japan on DPRK-Japan Bilateral Talks

Kyodo News ("KOIZUMI SENT MESSAGE TO N. KOREA AT BEIJING TALKS ", 2006-02-21) reported that Prime Minister Junichiro Koizumi said Wednesday he had sent a message to DPRK leader Kim Jong-il in which he expressed his hopes that the DPRK would negotiate with Japan in a sincere manner during their latest bilateral talks earlier this month. Earlier in the day, speaking at his regular press conference, Chief Cabinet Secretary Shinzo Abe denied that the premier had sent such a message during the bilateral talks in Beijing from Feb. 4 to 8.

8. Japan on Abductees in DPRK

Kyodo News ("ABDUCTEES' KIN, SUPPORTERS TO BOOST CALLS FOR INT'L COOPERATION ", 2006-02-21) reported that the relatives of Japanese abducted to the DPRK and their supporters said they agreed Sunday in Tokyo to reinforce their calls to the international community for cooperation in seeking the return of any abductees remaining in the DPRK. They also said the relatives of abductee Kaoru Matsuki, who the DPRK says died in the country, are planning to file a complaint Friday with the Tokyo police against two people who are the wives of Japanese who hijacked a Japan Airlines plane to the DPRK in 1970.
