1. DPRK to Request UN Food Aid

Associated Press ("U.N. AGENCY: NORTH KOREA REQUESTING FOOD", 2006-02-22) reported that the DPRK will formally ask the UN World Food Program for aid for children and pregnant women, several months after the nation demanded a halt to emergency food help, an agency spokeswoman said Wednesday. The request will be made at a Thursday meeting at the agency's Rome headquarters, spokeswoman Anthea Webb said. If the request is granted, 1.9 million children and pregnant women will receive vitamin-enriched food for two years. The program also calls for helping local factories produce their own enriched porridge and noodles, Webb said.

2. ROK on Six Party Talks

Reuters ("S.KOREA PUSHING PACE TO RESUME NORTH NUCLEAR TALKS ", 2006-02-22) reported that the ROK's new chief nuclear envoy will soon travel to countries involved in talks on ending the DPRK's atomic programmes in an intensifying effort to restart negotiations, its foreign minister said on Wednesday. Ban Ki-moon told reporters Deputy Foreign Minister Chun Yung-woo's travel would probably help set the stage for the talks. The ROK has said there were signs the DPRK may be positioning itself to return to the talks. "It is our assessment that the United States and North Korea are gradually moving toward resuming the six-party talks," Unification Minister Lee Jong-seok told a ROK radio programme. The DPRK has shown signs of easing its condition for resuming the talks, Lee said. "But it's hard to say conclusively in what form the North will talk about it and what it will do."

3. US on Six Party Talks

Financial Times ("US URGES CHINA ACTION ON N KOREA TALKS ", 2006-02-22) reported that the US wants DPRK neighbours - particularly the PRC - to put more pressure on Pyongyang to return to negotiations about its nuclear ambitions. But in spite of the impasse in the six-party talks, Washington remains optimistic that the negotiations will resume in Beijing imminently, perhaps as soon as this month. "As soon as the Chinese let us know that they're ready, we'll be there. The sooner the better," Christopher Hill, the US's assistant secretary of state and chief negotiator in the nuclear talks, said. "The Chinese would like to get it going as early as this month??.?.?As long as we feel we're making progress, we're going to continue this process."

4. US on DPRK Counterfeiting

Reuters ("U.S. SAYS SHOWED S.KOREA FAKE NOTES MADE IN NORTH", 2006-02-22) reported that the US has provided the ROK with evidence that the DPRK has been producing high-quality counterfeit US $100 notes, a US embassy official in Seoul said on Wednesday. Seoul has yet to comment publicly on whether it believes the US charges about the so-called "supernotes." "The US government has shared with ROK officials specimens of superior-quality counterfeit 2001 and 2003 series $100 notes (supernotes) that our investigations have concluded were manufactured in the DPRK," an embassy spokesman said.

5. Inter-Korean Trade

Chosun Ilbo ("SEOUL OBLIGES N.KOREA ON FERTILIZER ", 2006-02-22) reported that the government has agreed to a request from the DPRK for 150,000 tons of fertilizer for use in spring. ROK Unification Ministry official Koh Kyung-bin told reporters Wednesday the cost would be around US$6 million including transport. The DPRK on Feb. 1 requested the amount as the first installment of 450,000 tons to be delivered by the end of the month. Koh said Seoul acted quickly because it considered the request "along with humanitarian issues."

6. Inter-Korean Relations

Yonhap News ("RACING ASSOCIATION HEAD OFFERS HORSES TO N. KOREAN LEADER", 2006-02-22) reported that the head of the Korean Racing Association (KRA) said Wednesday he offered to send two horses to DPRK leader Kim Jong-il last year. Speaking with reporters, Lee Woo-jae said he made the informal offer to the DPRK through Lee Bong-soo, the association's former executive vice president who visited Pyongyang. "The proposal was made because Kim Jong-il is known to enjoy horseback riding," the chairman said. He added that there has not been any response, but the offer remains unchanged.

8. DPRK-US Bilateral Talks

Chosun Ilbo ("N. KOREA TO SEND REPRESENTATIVE TO U.S. ", 2006-02-22) reported that the DPRK's Foreign Ministry Director General for North America, and the country's representative at six-way talks Li Gun will reportedly travel to the US in hopes of reaching some kind of agreement on the dollar forging allegations and re-opening the stalled nuclear talks. A source at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs said on Wednesday, "Progress in the negotiations on the details of Li's visit to the U.S. is proceeding considerably well," and added, "A U.S. visit on the 4th of March is being pushed."

9. US on DPRK Human Rights

Yonhap News ("U.S. CONGRESS BERATES GOV'T LAG ON N.K. HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRESS", 2006-02-22) reported that the US Congress berated the Bush administration Wednesday for dragging its feet on DPRK human rights issues, sending a letter to Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice urging her to do more on accepting refugees from the DPRK. Two senators and seven representatives signed the letter registering "deep concern for the lack of progress in funding and implementing" the DPRK Human Rights Act of 2004.

17. Cross Strait Relations

BBC News ("CHEN REPEATS CHINA COUNCIL THREAT", 2006-02-22) reported that Taiwanese President Chen Shui-bian has repeated his suggestion that guidelines on unification with the PRC be scrapped, despite Washington's reservations. Mr Chen told a visiting US Congressman that the National Unification Council and its National Unification Guidelines were anachronistic. The National Unification Council was set up in 1990 as an attempt to convince the PRC authorities that Taiwan was committed to reunification.

19. PRC Environment

The Los Angeles Times ("CHINA TOUGHENS STANCE ON ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION", 2006-02-22) reported that turning a blind eye to environmental degradation could now cost PRC officials their jobs, state media announced Tuesday. The new rules say that officials who fail to shut down projects that cause widespread pollution, reduce or cancel fees imposed on those who illegally discharge industrial waste, or cover up environmental accidents will be disciplined. The exact nature of the punishment was unclear. The government said it would range from disciplinary warnings to dismissal.
