

Vietnam could be hit hard by global warming

Recommended Citation

"Vietnam could be hit hard by global warming", Nautilus in the News, November 09, 2007, <https://nautilus.org/nautilus-in-the-news/vietnam-could-be-hit-hard-by-global-warming/>

Peter Hayes: Vietnam could be hit hard by global warming, Thanh Nien News, 2007-11-09.

“Vietnam is one of the most vulnerable environments due to its location on the planet. It is already subject to some of the earth’s most powerful weather systems and the increased frequency and intensity of storms will affect it often and directly, especially in coastal areas where most people live. The most directly affected sector will be agriculture, which is very sensitive to flooding and the effects of extreme weather.”

View this online at: <https://nautilus.org/nautilus-in-the-news/vietnam-could-be-hit-hard-by-global-warming/>

Nautilus Institute

608 San Miguel Ave., Berkeley, CA 94707-1535 | Phone: (510) 423-0372 | Email:

nautilus@nautilus.org